Full description

The hot springs and geysers of Queupude, or Alpehue, are one of the most amazing spots in Melipeuco. Much of the route follows the Queupude River itself, winding through its channel between rock walls until reaching a valley with fumaroles, geysers, and natural hot springs.

The total distance is 14 km, with an early morning departure and a return around 7:00 p.m. The difficulty level is medium-high, and due to river conditions, the tour is only available in the summer, between December and March. Participants must be at least 14 years old, with a minimum of 2 people.
